'Turkish Competition Law and Applications', by Kanunum (in partnership with LexisNexis):

A new publication with contributions from the practitioners of Turkish competition law

Experienced specialists of Turkish competition law have put together a detailed, current and accessible resource in Turkish which in-house counsel and attorneys from all sectors can consult as they face questions of Turkish competition regulation. 'Turkish Competition Law and Applications' by Kanunum (in partnership with LexisNexis) addresses all main areas of competition law and presents hundreds of real examples. The online publication reflects the knowledge and practical experience of legal teams known for their specialization on Turkish competition regulation.

'Turkish Competition Law and Applications' is a resource that counsel can turn to for both general and specific information when addressing issues that businesses in Turkey have to tackle - from bundling of products to changes to partnership structures, from key competition concepts like 'relevant market', 'undertakings' and 'agreements' to competition authority investigations of business associations. The publication aims to facilitate an easy appraisal and tracking of the rules and exceptions of Turkish competition law not only through precedent and examples, but also through tools such as bullet point sub-headings, case summaries, links connecting different topics, flowcharts and access to the updated texts and textual history of the rules, regulations and laws cited in the authors' articles.

Allowing subscribers also to run searches on Kanunum's extensive Competition Authority case collection, 'Turkish Competition Law and Applications' affords in-house counsel and attorneys the benefits of a result-oriented and practical approach increasingly adopted by leading international publishers.

About KANUNUM

Kanunum.com is an online, updated and searchable electronic compilation of Turkish statutes, regulatory texts, high court decisions, administrative decisions and legislative material. For its search facility, the service relies on proprietary Turkish stemmer and search technologies.
